Welcome to the Yale Finding Aid Database

This database consists of finding aids for archival and manuscript materials at Yale University. Their purpose is to provide information about the creation, historical context, arrangement, and content of archival and manuscript collections as well as the information necessary for users to identify and request the portions relevant to their research. These finding aids vary in style, depth of detail, and amount of materials covered, but their common purpose is to describe and enable access to archival and manuscript collections.

Finding aids represent holdings from:

- Manuscripts and Archives \(Sterling Memorial Library\)
- Robert B. Haas Family Arts Library Special Collections
- Beinecke Rare Book and Manuscript Library
- Yale Divinity School Library
- Historical Library, Harvey Cushing/John Hay Whitney Medical Library

Yale University Library Digital Collections

Welcome to the new Yale University Library Digital Collections repository.

This interface will ultimately replace the many individual digital collections now available from the Yale University Library.

During this period of development, we will add both new collections and new features and are very interested in your feedback.

These collections are currently in the repository:

Arabic and Persian Medical Books and Manuscripts

Arabic and Persian manuscripts and books, as well as early translations of Arabic and Persian works dating from 1300 to 1921, from the Medical Historical Library, Cushing/Whitney Medical Library.

Connecticut Sanborn Fire Insurance Maps

Over 6,500 maps in 470 atlases for Connecticut towns dating from 1880 to 1970 at 1:600 scale. These highly detailed maps provide building, outbuilding, and property footprints, labeled streets, addresses, and information about building materials and construction features for urban and residential areas of Connecticut.

Day Missions Collection: Annual Reports

Annual reports of mission agencies and institutions document educational, medical, and religious work worldwide. Dating primarily from the 1830s through the 1930s, these reports form part of the Yale Divinity Library's Day Missions Collection, the preeminent North American collection for documentation of the history of missions and world Christianity.

Day Missions Collection: Periodicals

Periodicals published by mission agencies and worldwide religious organizations provide documentation of educational, medical, and religious work, and eyewitness accounts of events and conditions. These periodicals form part of the Yale Divinity Library's Day Missions Collection, the preeminent North American collection for documentation of the history of missions and world Christianity.

Israel Sack Furniture Archive

The Israel Sack Furniture Archive is a comprehensive digital database of American decorative arts, consisting of over 7,000 records cataloging the material objects bought and sold by the firm of Israel Sack, Inc. As the premier antiques firm representing early American furniture for much of the twentieth century, Israel Sack, Inc. was an influential corporation, operating from 1905 to 2002 in Boston and then New York City. The Israel Sack Furniture Archive will provide students, scholars and decorative arts enthusiasts alike with an unparalleled resource of comparative material for the study of early American furniture.

Lewis Walpole Digital Images Collection

Highlights from the Lewis Walpole Library's eighteenth-century British collections: visual caricatures and satires; Horace Walpole and Strawberry Hill--views, contents, and extra-illustrated copies of Walpole's "Description of the Villa"; selected topographical, portrait, and historical prints and drawings; ephemera such as trade cards, advertisements, bookplates, and playbills, and more.

Maurice Durand Han Nom Handwritten and Woodblock Manuscripts

Original woodblock or brush ink texts and translations of Han Nom texts into modern Romanized Vietnamese collected by Maurice Durand, a prominent Vietnamese/French scholar of Han Nom from the mid-20th century. Han Nom script uses classical Chinese characters to represent Sino-Vietnamese vocabulary and some native Vietnamese words, while other words are represented using locally created characters based on the Chinese model.

Persian Philological Texts

Selected older Persian philology texts which originate from South Asia, are rare European translations, or are reprints. All of the selected items are in the "endangered" preservation category. Many have extensive marginalia from scholars, or are from the personal libraries of Yale scholars such as Edward Salisbury.

- Rake task – constantly polling for content in ladybird queue table (hydra_publish and child table hydra_publish_path)
- These tables have properties, timestamps, and file locations
- The metadata files (desc, access, rights) and content (binaries) ingested from mounted disk
- Uses content model
(Simple,ComplexChild,ComplexParent,Complex childUnstruct

- Able to run concurrently, 1->5 instances improved throughput from 1.93 to 0.77 sec/obj
- Concurrency required use of stored procedures with SQL insert transfer rather than use of SQL updates due to locking issues

- Hydra_publish table property proliferation (viewOpt, ingestServer, handle, priority, attempts, hierarchyLevel, # of digital children)
- Frequent metadata updates – a pain point - mistakes, metadata schema changes (1 ex: ISO dates for date slider facet)

- Errors happen
- Use database error table for quick lookup
- Use well labeled and concise logging (grep is your friend)

- Pluggable conditional workflow sequences,
- Quick turnaround to add features such as handles, and OCR solr fieldtype conditionals

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE / AUGUST 2, 1973

AS DELIVERED REMARKS OF DR. HENRY A. KISSINGER
ASSISTANT TO THE PRESIDENT
FOR NATIONAL SECURITY AFFAIRS
INTERNATIONAL PLATFORM ASSOCIATION
SHERATON-PARK HOTEL

8:00 P.M. EDT

DR. KISSINGER: Mr. Roosevelt, Mrs. Longworth,
ladies and gentlemen:

I am very grateful for the honor that has been bestowed on me this evening, especially by the hand of Mrs. Longworth, who, it is true, is, if I may say so, one of my girl friends here. At least she was my first date in Washington.

The second night that President Nixon was at the White House, he gave a private dinner, and we were all still very stage struck, and he said, "Don't bring anyone,
I have a date for you," and that date was Mrs. Longworth.

At that time, I thought of myself as a very serious professor, and during the course of the evening, Mrs.
Longworth said to me, "You will do all right. You don't take yourself too seriously." (Laughter) She was wrong about the second part.

Now, this award represents something of an encouragement at a time when we in Government are not exactly overwhelmed by expressions of approbation. More importantly, the award bears the name of a man, Theodore Roosevelt, whom I have both as a historian and as a public servant, admired above most others in our Nation's history.

I have already expressed how delighted I have been to be seated next to one of the great ladies of our time,
Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth.

Mrs. Longworth, who has brought grace and dignity to two already renowned names in American political history, is one of the handful of people who makes living in Washington a worthwhile and exciting experience.

Last week, while I was preparing my remarks for this evening, I spent some time looking for an appropriate Roosevelt quote. One particularly struck a responsive chord, since I have not too many weeks ago before this
